NARDI STEERING WHEELS

Thanks to five decades of experience in creating sporting steering wheels, Nardi has built itself a reputation second to none. Not just as a producer of prestigious and highly desirable after-market models, but also as a supplier of O.E.M. steering wheels destined to the worldwide car makers' and System Suppliers' leaders.

Today, Nardi-Personal's entire production is ISO 9001:2000 certified and is one of the very few manufacturers offering complete research and development facilities, as well as specific production processes.

Nardi's experience both in designing and manufacturing steering wheels gives competitive advantages. As a matter of fact only few other specialists can offer such an extensive knowledge of materials, components and structures: an expertise that enables Nardi to produce steering wheels in conformity to the most stringent customers' specifications.

Nardi's production still involves a traditional process where every steering wheel is finished and assembled by highly skilled artisans giving to each product an unique, hand-crafted touch of distinction.
